Would Re-Name Coast Highway

A proposal by the Lomita Chamber of Commerce to seek a single name from Mexico to Canada for the thoroughfare known in this area as Highway 101 or Roosevelt Highway is now before the street naming committee of the Association of City Planners of Los Angeles county for study.

Under terms of the proposal, the county would sanction use of one name for the artery within Los Angeles county in the hope of gaining similar action of other county bodies, according to Secretary H. H. Halladay of the Lomita civic group.

The Harbor District Chambers of Commerce has endorsed the name "Pacific Coast Highway" for the route. Re-naming of the highway was first proposed in 1936 by chambers in this area.

Hindu Priest Chooses Odd Musical Penance

NEW DELHI, India (U.P.)—A Hindu priest, who has been chosen by a Hindu priest, of New Delhi.

He recently emerged from a cave where he had carried out 12 years of meditation and, say reports reaching Delhi, was so worried by the 12 years of his religious state of the world that he decided on his weird penance.

For six weeks he was to listen to loud music continually day and night, followed by six years of music throughout the day.

This he hopes, will be sufficient to restore religion to the world.

His silent meditation that he had carried out for 12 years was dropped, however, when Lord Dacca and Benodan Das requested additional time to study the matter.

Lomita Chamber Chairmen Named

Chairmen of Lomita Chamber of Commerce committees for the 1939-40 term were announced last week by Martin Pedersen, new president. Those appointed and confirmed by the board of directors were: J. L. Abbott, parks and recreation; H. H. Halladay, membership; J. H. Wood, merchants; Coy Farquhar, entertainment; E. M. Mosher, streets; Hugo Schmidt, public welfare; F. L. Baker, health and sanitation; and Marion Welsh, promotion and advertising.

The chamber at its last meeting instructed Secretary H. H. Halladay to ask Lomita residents to notify the chamber of all new residents in the community, thus giving the merchants committee a chance to welcome them.

Rustling Lanes In Arizona Get Sharper Teeth

PHOENIX, Ariz. (U.P.)—As cattlemen in the Far West complained that rustling was again increasing, the Arizona legislature moved to tighten anti-rustling regulations.

Cattle rustling, it was said, has increased with weakening of the general national economic situation and with the development of good roads and high-speed trucks. Authorities report it is easier to steal cattle with mobile motor equipment than it was formerly when the stock had to be driven to markets. Consequently, the state legislature gave cattle inspectors the power to stop any vehicle on the highways that might be hauling either cattle or meat.

All slaughtered animals and all hides must be stamped by state inspectors after proof of ownership has been established. Before slaughtering, except for the remote rancher who kills a beef for home consumption, a state cattle inspector must be called to inspect the cattle and then stamp the hides and meat.

The legislature also increased the number of livestock inspectors.

Cyril Bailey, public curator of Oxford University, England, hopes the custom of using Latin when introducing graduates for honorary degrees will never die out. English is used only when royalty receives a degree.

Huge Owl Flies Away With Feet In Traps

GEORGETOWN, Del. (U.P.)—His hen house raided regularly, George Warrington, poultry grower at nearby Indian River, placed two steel traps near the door of the coops, only to find the traps missing the following morning.

Later, Carter Marcham shot a large bird in a field bordering on Warrington's property. He found it to be an owl with a four foot, seven inch wingspread, and with a steel trap fastened to each foot. The traps were Warrington's.
